Marcel Pawlicek joins the Board of Directors of Agile Wind Power AG

At this year's Annual General Meeting of Agile Wind Power AG, shareholders elected Marcel Pawlicek as a new member of the Board of Directors. The former CEO of the Winterthur-based Burckhardt Compression Group will strengthen the technology company with immediate effect with his many years of international industrial experience. He will contribute himself and his network in particular to marketing and the development of the distribution network.

Many years of broad-based experience in the industry, a large network and broad expertise in international sales: Marcel Pawlicek is the ideal candidate for the Board of Directors of the up-and-coming cleantech company. Agile Wind Power installed the second turbine of a worldwide new wind turbine technology in early summer 2022. The unique turbines have much less impact on the immediate environment, making them ideally suited for captive power production for energy-intensive commercial and industrial consumers. In addition to testing and preparations for commissioning, the company has started work on series production turbines with a view to delivering them to the first operators in 2024.

With the addition of Marcel Pawlicek to the Board of Directors, Agile Wind Power strengthens its expertise in view of the market entry of its new technology. Patrick Richter, founder and CEO of Agile Wind Power, commented: "We are delighted to have Marcel Pawlicek join our team. His experience as a sales-focused group CEO will successfully lead Agile Wind Power into the next phase of the company's development."

Marcel Pawlicek accompanied the development of Burckhardt Compression in various functions. He worked as an engineer and in sales and later was part of the management buyout team and successfully took Burckhardt Compression public. For the last eleven years he led the company as CEO. Today he is on the board of directors of several companies and shares his knowledge of business development, management consulting, marketing and sales strategy. His conviction for Agile Wind Power's solutions led him to his new assignment. About his new engagement, he sums up, "I'm excited to bring my energy knowledge to Agile Wind Power and help the company enter the market."
